The prudent see danger and take refuge, but the simple keep going and suffer for it. Proverbs 27:12

You can feel it – it's not a good feeling. You have discussed it – it's the topic. You are concerned. You are not alone.

In an ever changing and uncertain world, find out what you can do to prepare your family for natural disasters, social unrest, or other crisis situations that may be on the horizon. Meet the experts. Find out what others are doing. Participate in a full day of learning, planning, and information gathering that will dramatically affect how you approach the rapidly changing world that we face. Serious changes surround you – politically, economically, and environmentally – be prepared.
